

40

MEET POLYNE

"Sometimes we plant crops, but when the sea level rises, it destroys our food gardens. I'm so worried."

Says 9-year-old Polyne who is struggling to get enough food each day.

"When the sea level rises, it destroys our food gardens. I'm so worried."

For many kids in Solomon Islands, getting food is not so simple. Nine-year-old Polyne lives in a remote community where there aren't any supermarkets.

For generations, families like hers have lived off the land, relying on fishing and farming for all of their kai. But now it's hard for Polyne to get enough food to eat.

Rising sea levels are flooding community gardens, killing crops and fishing is harder. Right now, tamariki like Polyne are struggling to get enough food each day.

Through this year's World Vision 40 Hour Challenge, we're uniting to raise funds so that communities like Polyne's will have enough food in a changing climate.

You'll give families' tools and seeds to farm climate-smart crops so they will have a reliable source of food. And plant mangroves to help protect their gardens from rising seas and attract fish back to shore.

Sign up now and start your fundraising to provide kids like Polyne with food for today, and a future for tomorrow.

40 hāora?
whakaae ana!

My goal

$

loading...

Where did you get your kai today?

1 in 6 Tamariki

in the Pacific region is living in severe child food poverty, leaving them at risk of hunger & malnutrition.

80% of Solomon Islanders

depend on fishing and farming for their food and family income.

3 Easy steps to sign up

- 1 Go to 40hour.org.nz or scan the QR code below.
- 2 Create your own personal fundraising page and sponsor yourself first!
- 3 Share your page with friends and whānau so they can help you reach your goal.

40hour.org.nz

@40hournz

40 Hour Challenge
13-15 JUNE 2025

Name: _____
School/Church Name: _____
Classroom Number: _____

40 hours?
challenge accepted!

Kia ora team

It's Stan Walker and Wallace Sititi here. Thank you so much for signing up for the World Vision 40 Hour Challenge! Right now, tamariki like Polyne are struggling to get enough food each day. We have to do something.

Thanks for stepping up to help.

Are you up for 40 hours offline?

We're challenging you and your mates to go completely offline for 40 hours. This is your chance to unplug, disconnect and get together with your friends and whānau.

A 40 hour sacrifice for you can make a life-long difference for kids like Polyne.

How will you make the most of your 40 hours offline? Will you help out, hang out, exercise, spend time in nature, tick off tasks, or something else? Let us know @40hournz

People who can sponsor you

Ask for donations and tick off this list:

- ☐ your parents/caregivers
- ☐ siblings
- ☐ grandparents
- ☐ uncles & aunts
- ☐ your parents' friends & colleagues
- ☐ sports teams, church or community groups.
- ☐ music, dance or drama teachers
- ☐ your boss & co-workers
- ☐ your neighbours & local community
- ☐ you!

The difference YOU can make

$42

Trains a person in climate-smart agriculture so they can grow sustainable food for years to come.

$28

Provides a family with a veggie garden to grow their daily food.

$98

Gives seeds and farming tools so families can feed their children in a changing climate.

$189

Equips a family to protect their food sources from rising seas through mangrove plantation.

Choose something hard to switch off:

- ☐ social media
- ☐ gaming
- ☐ the internet
- ☐ phone
- ☐ electricity
- ☐ surprise us!

Check out our new rewards when you sign up online

Digital badges

You'll unlock a badge to share every time you hit a fundraising milestone.

Merch prize packs

Be in to win limited-edition World Vision 40 Hour Challenge merch!

